

The Story of the Philippine Carabao

By Felixberto G. Modesto

Map of Philippines

The Carabao can work in the rice field in the Philippines. The colour of the Carabao is black.

The Carabao is our national animal in the Philippines. The Carabao can be tamed by humans in the Philippines.

The ancestor of the Carabao is buffalo.
The Carabao of the Philippines can be raised for milk, meat, and hide.

There is a Carabao named Glory from the Philippines that I read about in a book. She was born on April 5. Her name is Glory.

This is the end of my story about the Philippines Carabao.

I hope you enjoyed my story.

The End.
